THE SOCIAL NETWORK (2010)

Written by

Aaron Sorkin

INT. THIRSTY SCHOLAR PUB - CAMBRIDGE, MA - NIGHT

MARK ZUCKERBERG is sitting across from ERICA ALBRIGHT. He has a beer. She has a drink. The place is noisy and crowded.

MARK
Did you know there are more people with genius IQs living in China than there are people of any kind living in the United States?

ERICA
That can't possibly be true.

MARK
It is.

ERICA
What would that have to do with anything?

MARK
Nothing. It just means that there are more people in China with genius IQs than the total number of people in the United States. I just think it's an interesting fact.

ERICA
(beat)
You're going to get into a final club.

MARK
How do you know that?

ERICA
Because it's important to you.